PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK (UP)—Joe Louis is swifter than the chair, quicker than the hempen noose.

Only the guillotine can match him as a killer.

The brown-skinned boy shuffled out before some 75,000 people in Yankee Stadium and finished off Max Schmeling, and his challenge for the world heavyweight title, in 124 seconds.

The chair takes four minutes to finish a man, the noose longer. Even lightning must bow to Louis, because it only strikes once. He struck a dozen times. Each blow took its toll, and the toll was a heavy one. The final one sent Schmeling pitching forward on his face. His only sign of life, as the referee counted over him, was a twitching of his feet.

Schmeling was so badly hurt his body still throbbed hours after the fight, and his manager, Joe Jacobs, fearing that his spine or right kidney may have been injured seriously by a blow which Schmeling claimed was foul, took him to Polytechnic Hospital. X-Ray pictures were taken but Max was not admitted as a patient. He spent the night in Jacobs' home. Physicians will examine the pictures today to determine the extent of the damage.

Schmeling's defeat was not something one would like to see again. The utter disintegration of an athlete is painful to watch, even when it takes years. Schmeling's disintegration, from a superb physical specimen to a helpless, hopeless, bleeding object required just two minutes and four seconds. One moment the spotlight picked him out and accentuated the brightness of his eyes, the rhythm of his muscles, the eager life of him. In little more time than a breath is held, those same spotlights picked him out again—picked him out on the floor, and not standing up.

He lay sprawled face down. His arms dangled. He quivered as a beaten, hurt body quivers.

One moment a sculptor's model, the next something that had to be carried away.

Looking back over last night's fight, one is thankful that this boxing championship, the most primitive of sports, was held in a civilized setting. Had it been held in a jungle, with survival and not the title at stake, it is no exaggeration to say that Schmeling, the weaker man, would be dead.

Louis shed his mercy as easily as he shed his bathrobe last night.

When the bell rang, and the huge crowd came to its feet with a roar that shook the stone and steel of Yankee Stadium, Louis shuffled out for the kill.

At his mammy's knee in Alabama, Louis was taught that vengeance belongs to him on high, for the time, he forgot all that, and in his desire to wipe out the beating that the German gave him two years ago, he took vengeance into his own hands. For some 15 seconds he stalked the German. Then he struck. With a drum fire of rights and lefts, he drove Max into the ropes, where he hung, helpless. Louis beat him without answer. Louis probably would have finished him there, beating him senseless while he still stood upright, had not referee Arthur Donovan waved Louis back, and started counting.

Donovan had just said "One!" when Schmeling somehow untangled himself and gallantly walked out toward his enemy. Left hooks brought his hands down, and as they dropped, Louis fired a right that floored him for a count of two.

The fact that the German got up at two was proof of his state. A fighter who knows what's going on stays down as long as he can, and gives his head every chance to clear.

When Schmeling came to his feet, he was in no condition to fight. Had you seen him on the street in the shape he was in, you would have rushed to his side to keep him from falling, and asked someone to call a doctor. But there was no one to succor Max, no one to comfort him.

Instead of a helper, he was faced by a man who wanted to punish him unto death. Louis drove home a right hand that turned Schmeling's head clear around, and as he grotesquely looked backward, he must have seen that night in June two years ago when he was the killer, and Louis the persecuted. Louis must have seen it too, because he moved in and viciously beat

SCHMELING IN HOSPITAL

Vanquished Challenger Hurt Painfully But Not Seriously; Total Gross $1,015,096

By HENRY SUPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Max Schmeling suffered a painful but not serious back injury when he was knocked out in the first round last night by Joe Louis in their heavyweight fight, his physicians said today.

The report of Dr. Robert Emery Brennan, surgeon general of the hospital, said:

"Mr. Schmeling has suffered a fracture of the transverse process of the third and fourth lumbar vertebrae with a hemorrhage of the lumbar muscles. Prognosis is favorable."

Schmeling—strapped in a hospital bed with a painful back injury—demanded another chance to win the championship from Louis.

Schmeling will remain in bed until July 2. The then will be taken by ambulance to the steamship Bremen to recuperate in Germany.

Games And Races Which Were Not Held Last Week Will Be Staged; New Entertainment

EL DORADO RESIDENT IS CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

Daniel (Joe) DeLaney, of El Dorado, filed the nominating petition on Wednesday afternoon which qualifies him as a candidate for election as county sheriff.

Mr. DeLaney has a wide acquaintance among El Dorado County miners. In which industry he has been employed since coming to this county. He was a shift foreman for the Montezuma-Apex Mining Company and since closing of the Montezuma mine has been employed at the Rosencranz mine and, more recently, at the Big Canyon mine of the Mountain Copper Company at Shingle as engineer.

Before coming to El Dorado County, he was in the police department at Bingham Canyon, Utah, a copper mining camp, and resigned as chief of the vice squad to enter business.

Mr. DeLaney has ordered the printer to strike off some cards and he will be calling upon the voters between now and election time.

Leona Rebekah Lodge Gets Assembly Report

At their regular meeting Monday evening, members of Leona Rebekah Lodge No. 30, heard an interesting report by the delegates to the recent Rebekah Assembly, held at San Jose.

After lodge the members enjoyed a game of Dutch whist. It being "birthday night," and Roy Vanderhayden being the only member present having a Jun. birthday, he was given the distinction of blowing out the candles and eating the cake. Cake and ice cream were enjoyed by all.

REPLACER—Alphonse Roy, voted a seat in the House of Representatives in Washington after the House voted to unseat Representative Arthur B. Jenks, Republican, of New Hampshire. Special election committee went to Concord to investigate the election contest and after an inquiry recommended unseating Mr. Jenks.

48 WAR PLANES TO MAKE MASS FLIGHT

U. S. Patrol Bombers To Hop For Seattle; May Go To Air Base In Alaska

SAN DIEGO (UP)—One of the most ambitious mass flights, in number of planes involved, in U. S. navy history, will get under way here Saturday, it was revealed today.

Forty-eight of the powerful, long-range PBV-type patrol bombers will begin taking off from the harbor here at about 5:30 a. m. it was revealed and by 8 a. m., the big crafts will be roaring along in formation over the Pacific headed for Seattle, where they are due to arrive Saturday evening.

There were well founded rumors the squadrons, after arrival at Seattle, would head for the fleet airbase at Sitka, Alaska, for secret maneuvers, testing the defenses of the nation's most northerly outpost.

Rear Admiral Charles A. Blakeley, commander of the aircraft scouting force, will be in command of the flight. It could not be learned definitely, but it was believed the admiral would transfer his flag to one of the big airboats for the hop—his flagship the USS Wright sailed from San Diego Monday to take part in the tactical exercises in progress off the coast and then head for Seattle.

SPANISH WAR VETERAN TO BE LAID AT REST SATURDAY

Funeral services for Franklin Pierce Pottle, 86, who died Wednesday at a hospital, will be held on Saturday afternoon at the graveside at Jayhawk cemetery. Hangtown Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, will have charge of the services and Rev. John Dunlop will officiate.

Mr. Pottle was a native of Minneapolis and in his youth began the study of medicine at Rush Medical College. He did not finish the course. Serving in the Spanish-American War, he had resided in this country for about thirty years, engaging in mining and prospecting. Since 1926 he had made his home on the Blair ranch, in Deer Valley.

He suffered a stroke about four years ago and had not been well since that time although it was only last Friday that his illness took a critical turn. Monday he was brought to Placerville for treatment.

Mr. Pottle is survived by one nephew, Harry Pottle, of New York City.

Mrs. Thompson Hostess At Whist Afternoon

Mrs. R. E. Thompson was hostess at her home on Coloma road last Thursday afternoon for an afternoon of whist. Guests included Mrs. Irene Scheiber, Mrs. Anna Gray, Mrs. Cyril Heuser, Mrs. Ann Evans, of Shingle; Mrs. Alice Scheiber, Mrs. Jane Cantrell, Mrs. Graynor, of El Dorado; Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Charles Green and Mrs. Roy Scheiber, of Diamond Springs, and Mrs. Clara Davis, of Placerville. At the close of the game delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. John Scherrer are home from a visit with their daughter and other relatives at San Francisco. While at the bay city they attended the wedding of their niece, Miss Angeline Rossi, and Mr. John Murray.

BOY "SAILORS" APPREHENDED

Santa Cruz Youths Detained With Stolen Yacht At Remote Port In Mexico

PUERTO VALLARTA, West Coast of Mexico, (UP)—The $25,000 yacht Tira was safely moored in this old smugglers harbor today and the three Santa Cruz, Calif., high school boys who sailed away on it May 25 without anybody's permission were awaiting an official decree which would decide the price they must pay for their adventure.

The boys—Lyla Tara, 17, James Henninger, 17, and Bill Grace, 16—conducted their expedition, which savored of the pirate tales they enjoyed reading for more than 2,000 miles down the west coast of the North American continent before making port in the face of a gathering tropical storm.

Quietly the Tira, which is owned by Lew Foote, well-to-do chain store operator, slipped out of Santa Cruz harbor the evening of May 25. Friends and relatives of the boys had heard them talk often of sailing to the South Seas. When it was discovered they and the yacht had disappeared simultaneously, United States authorities were notified.

For a week the coast guard conducted widespread search by sea and air but the Tira had vanished, and since the youths had spoken of Cocos Island, far south in the Pacific, it was believed the Tira prow was pointed that direction.

TO RECLAIM BOAT

SANTA CRUZ (UP)—Lew Foote, owner of the yacht Tira, conferred with government officials today, and then announced he would fly to Guadalajara Friday, which is a hundred miles from Puerto Vallarta. He will travel to Manzanilla by land, he said, and reclaim his yacht.

8-Inch Trout "Shocks" Worker On Creek

One of the men employed, on the city's sewer project got the "shock" of his recent existence Thursday morning while operating a pump during the work of connecting up individual sewer lines with the sewer main.

It became apparent that something had reached the interior of the pump and presuming "it" to be a rock, the man stopped the pump and reached in to get the rock.

The "rock" was an eight-inch trout, alive and thrashing about for all its worth. After the workman recovered from the shock of "an alive rock," the trout was put back in the creek.

City Engineer Wildman reports he saw no less than six trout a foot long taken out of the creek Thursday morning.

The Camino Pirates and the Snowline CCC team will continue their softball series at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Snowline field.

SPY CASE—Senta de Wanger of Mineola, L. I. mysterious liquor store proprietor, held as a government witness in the Nazi spy case in New York.

WOOLWORTH HEIRESS, MATE IN RIFT

Barbara Cites Count To Court As London, Paris Speculate Over Nature Of Trouble

LONDON, (UP)—Countess Court, Haugwitz-Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, Woolworth heiress, has started legal proceedings against her husband, it was reported persistently today.

The proceedings were apparently in the form of a summons to court and not a warrant of arrest, as reported by the London Evening News and Star.

The warrant officer of the Bow St. police court told the United Press that no warrant had been issued "and as far as I know, there are no grounds on which to issue a warrant."

The dispute between the couple was said to be over custody of their two-year-old son, Lance, although Paris reported also that there was disagreement over the investment of Barbara's fortune.

The Count is in Paris, where he was reported in a family conference with Franklin L. Hutton, father of Barbara, about the future of Lance, two year old son of the count and countess.

The trouble between the count and countess was yet to be clearly explained, but the Daily Mail said the countess had obtained a court order giving her custody of the child "pending subsequent litigation."

COLLEGE ROMANCE LEADS YOUNG LUMBERMAN TO ALTAR

Honeymooning "somewhere in the south" and expected to return over the week-end are Mr. and Mrs. William Berry, who were wed on Saturday evening last at St. Clement's Episcopal church, Berkeley.

The marriage followed a college romance at the University of California of which Mr. Berry and his bride are graduates.

She was Barbara Bingaman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bingaman, of Piedmont, and a graduate this year at the university.

Mr. Berry, younger son of Swift Berry, of Camino, was graduated at the university last year and is employed at the Michigan-California Lumber Company's Camp Fourteen, where the couple will establish their home.

Jack Berry, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Ted Atwood, of Placerville, was among the ushers for the service and among those from Placerville who were present at the rites were Mrs. Robert Sinclair and daughter, Miss Reba Sinclair.

The service was followed by a wedding reception following which the couple began their wedding trip.

We join the many other friends of Mr. Berry in congratulations and extend to the bride our good wishes.

GUILT ADMITTED, MERCY ASKED ON CHECK CHARGE

Rollin P. Blake returned last week by Sheriff George M. Smith from Los Angeles on a charge of issuing worthless checks, entered a guilty plea Thursday morning in Superior Court before Judge George H. Thompson on two counts.

SAMISH RECORDS SUBPOENAED

Grand Jury At Sacramento Recesses For One Week; Lobbyist Questioned

By JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO—The climax of the Sacramento county grand jury investigation into charges of corruption in the state legislature was delayed one week today after Arthur Samish, San Francisco lobbyist, was ordered to produce his financial records for the past ten years for the grand jury's inspection.

Samish was instructed to deliver his records on Tuesday and then the grand jury recessed at noon to convene again next Thursday when the records will be reviewed at a public hearing.

The lobbyist was found guilty of criminal contempt last night by a police court jury which deliberated five minutes.

Samish will be sentenced at 10 a. m. tomorrow by Justice Silas J. Orr. It appeared certain he would appeal the possible maximum sentence of six months in jail, a $500 fine, or both.

Among the questions Babcock said he intended to ask Samish before the grand jury was one in regard to the Desmond milk bill. He said he would ask Samish the extent of his knowledge of the bill and about asserted payments to Assemblyman William Hornblower of San Francisco and Charles Olson of Los Angeles.

Mine Bill Near Final Action

Suspension Of Assessment Work Sponsored By Sen. Johnson, Rep. Murdock

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Presidential action was expected today on a bill extending for another year the moratorium on assessment work on mining claims held by location in the United States and Alaska.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Hiram Johnson, R. Calif., and Rep. J. R. Murdock, D. Ariz., was approved in the final day of the 75th congress.

Suspension of assessment work first was authorized by congress in 1932, on the contention that depression conditions made it a hardship to require $100 of work or improvements each year on an unpatented mining claim. The new bill would extend the moratorium until July 1, 1939.

GEORGETOWN TEACHER TO JOIN PLACERVILLE FACULTY

Up and Down Broadway

By JACK GAVER
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, (UP)—It can be said truthfully that "The Two Bouquets" is a good summer show. Its problems place no strain upon the mind or emotions, it is an ideal vehicle to carry you away from the realities of heat (since the Windsor Theatre is air cooled) and world troubles, and offers some engaging and familiar music to make its Victorian high-jinks more palatable to the robust American appetite.

"The Two Bouquets" is a so-called operetta which has had London at its feet for, lo, these many months and the responsibility for its local presentation rests on Marc Connelly, playwright and producer, who backs up his personal enthusiasms with his time and money in a prodigal manner. Played a bit more broadly and with entr'acte entertainment before the olio, it would be a fitting occupant for the American Music Hall which is specializing in productions burlesquing the theatrical fare of an earlier time served up to the customers along with a variety of potables.

Burns Mantle, critic and official historian of the contemporary theater, has announced his selections of the "Ten best" plays of the 1937-38 season which will make their appearance in condensed form in the next edition of his year book of the theater due in the fall. It is a list with which few persons will quarrel and virtually the only legitimate argument any one can offer is the omission of that startlingly different concoction of the union troubles set to music: "The Cradle Will Rock," by Marc Blitzstein.

The Mantle selections are:
"Of Mice and Men," Critics' Circle prize winner, by John Steinbeck.

"Our Town," the Pulitzer winner, by Thornton Wilder.

"Shadow and Substance," by Paul Vincent Carroll.

"Susan and God," by Rachel Crothers.

"Amphitryon 38," S. H. Behrman's adaptation of the French original by Jean Giraudoux.

"Star Wagon," by Maxwell Anderson.

"On Borrowed Time," adapted from the novel of Lawrence Sanders Watson by Paul Osborn.

"Golden Boy," by Clifford Odets.

"Eulogy to Glory," the Federal Theatre Project production by E. P. Conkle.

"What a Life," by Clifford Goldsmith.

The members of Troop 67 who will attend are Ralph Newman, Russell Land, Robert Land, Bill Needham and Jimmie Hunsaker.

AN APPEAL TO THE VOTERS

Since my business requires me to travel in the country every day it will be impossible for me to call upon each of you personally, so I take this means of appealing for your support in my campaign for the office of County Superintendent of Schools. My education and training are shown in my political card which is published in The Mountain Democrat and in The Placerville Republican.

I have had wide experience in handling funds and have always administered them economically.

I believe the school room should be a workshop and not a playhouse and that it can successfully be so presented by a good teacher, and that pupils can be taught to love work as much as they love play. Let us make the prime function of the elementary school, the development of analytical thinking and comprehensive reading.

Your votes are respectfully solicited.

"BATTLE OF BROADWAY" NEW OFFERING ON EMPIRE SCREEN

The Legion has landed and the situation is well out of hand!

That was New York last fall when the American Legionnaires invaded the big town for the most unconventional convention since Broadway belonged to the Indians. 20th Century-Fox's boisterous new comedy, "Battle of Broadway," is based on the bombardment of buffoonery perpetuated by the ex-doughboys. The picture opens tonight at the Empire.

Victor McLaglen and Brian Donlevy re-enact much of this horseplay in "Battle of Broadway." The two toughest guys in the outfit, they trade punches and wisecracks for the favors of Louise Hovick, who wreaks havoc between them. Vic and Brian feel that where a "rime" is involved there never was an Armistice!

GERMANS SHOCKED

BERLIN, (U) — "Impossible!" Germans exclaimed today when over the radio came the announcement that Max Schmeling, the Aryan hope, had been knocked out in the first round of his fight with Joe Louis, the world's non-Aryan heavyweight champion.

Afternoon newspapers emphasized reports that X-Ray examination showed that Schmeling suffered two broken bones when Louis struck him. They attributed his defeat to this. But typical comment was that Schmeling would lose none of his country's affection for him because of his defeat and that Germans would show they could be good losers.

Max to the floor. As Donovan counted, a towel came fluttering in from the German's corner. It said:

"Kamerad!"

But the German was no quitter. Through the mist and the blood he saw the towel, too and he rose, shaking, to his feet. He got it. A left, a twisting, dirty left, snapped his head to one side, exposing the whole expanse of the left side of his face. Like a rifleman in a Coney Island target range, who waits until the duck comes around, Louis drew a bead on that German jaw. With the same sort of "w-h-o-o-s-h" that the big blade drops, his nut brown fist drove home. That was all.

Donovan's counting was just a gesture now. He could have run through all the numbers up to 900, and it would not have done Max any good.

Hundreds of drowned fruit trees in the Hardwick district, Kings County, are being pulled out.

TO MAKE STATE VISIT—King George of Great Britain performs a husbandly act as he assists Queen Elizabeth with her veil, on a recent visit to the races at Epsom. The King and Queen will make their first state visit abroad, when they arrive in Paris June 28. French government is making elaborate preparations to entertain them and is redecorating, for the first time since 1860, the apartment in the Foreign Affairs Ministry.

FRANCE MAKES GALA PREPARATION TO ENTERTAIN KING AND QUEEN OF BRITAIN ON OCCASION OF OFFICIAL VISIT TO PARIS THIS MONTH

By HERBERT C. KING
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, (U) — Four of the greatest names the French stage and musical comedy of today can boast have been retained by Jean Zay, minister of national education, to entertain King George and Queen Elizabeth during their forthcoming visit in Paris. They are Maurice Chevalier, who will supply the lighter vein, the actress, Yvonne Printemps and Ninon Vallin and the actor-playwright, Sacha Guitry. What their roles will actually be has not yet been announced but Minister Zay has promised, "An entertainment worthy of our guests."

When their majesties have seen these four they will have had a taste of the best the French have to offer.

Sacha Guitry and Ninon Vallin will entertain at the Elysee Palace following the state dinner and reception at the Elysee Palace, Tuesday, June 28, while Yvonne Printemps and Chevalier will perform the following evening after dinner at the British Embassy at which President Lebrun will be the official guest of honor.

After this "hors d'oeuvres" of theatrical art, their majesties will attend the same evening the gala performance to be given for them at the Opera. There, they will see a 200-year-old opera "Castor et Pollux" by Jean Philippe Rameau (1638-1764) while after that the corps de ballet of the Opera led by the famous dancer, Serge Lifar, will give an interpretation of the famous "Suite de Danse," by Chopin.

Meanwhile other plans for the royal guests' reception are nearing completion. The afternoon of their arrival at the Bois de Boulogne while the procession is making its way up the Avenue Foch, 10,000 doves, the symbol of peace, will be released near the Arc de Triomphe. Thousands of school children will line the route to wave welcome, while near the Place de la Concorde delegations of the different French provinces in their regional costumes will be assembled.

When the King and Queen lunch at Versailles palace in the Hall of Mirrors on Thursday, June 30, the music and the costumes of the attendants will evoke a vision of the Grand Siècle. The waiters will be dressed in costumes of the period of Louis XIV, the sun king, and the music will be exclusively pieces written at that time.
